LONDON (Thomson Financial) - Herencia Resources Plc. said it has received positive metallurgical testwork and drilling results at its 70 percent-owned Paguanta zinc-lead-silver project in northern Chile.

The mineral exploration company said drilling to date at the Patricia resource has returned positive results with drilling in each of the Camp, Central and Cathedral veins intercepting strong visible mineralisation in four significant intervals.

Herencia said drilling is scheduled to continue at Paguanta until August/September, targeting both the current Patricia zinc-lead-silver resource and the La Rosa porphyry-copper target.
