Herencia Resources plc

("the Company")

Next Minerals

and

Working Capital Update

As announced to the market on 3 February 2016, the Company had agreed subject, inter alia, to shareholder approval and completion of satisfactory due diligence by Next Minerals ("Next") to dispose of 100% of the Company's Picachos project for up to US$5.125 million, over 16 months. The Company has now received notice from Next, that it will not proceed with this transaction.

As previously announced to the market, the Company has sufficient working capital to last until early May 2016. Following the decision by Next to withdraw, the Company has withheld the option payment (US$290,000) due for payment on the Picachos Licence. If the Picachos option is not renewed, the Company may lose all rights to the asset but would have additional working capital to last until approximately the end of May 2016. If the Picachos Option is renewed, the Company would only have sufficient working capital to last until early May 2016.

There can be no guarantee that the Company will be able to continue to trade after that time.

The Company continues to explore other options.
